return of the youngsters to their various schools and colleges, entertaining on the Main Line has taken sort of a slump. The women are all busy again with their different kinds of war work, particularly the canteen service. Every day brings more and more returned men. Families are getting the most thrilling surprises in the form of cablegrams and telephone messages telling of the return of somebody from the war, and sometimes the man himself. In some cases they have received their marching orders so quickly that they have not had time to communicate with their family and just arrive!

Some of the men who have been mustered out of the service are Major Archibald Barklie, of Invor House, Wayne; Colonel Robert E. Montgomery, of Ardressan, Radnor; Ensign William A. Rolin, of Strafford; Lieutenant John Forsyth Meigs, 2d, of Ithan; Lieutenant F. G. Roberts, of Haverford; Captain Paul Denckla Mills, of St. Davids, and Major Burton Chance, of Radnor. Mr. George L. Justice and Mr. Samuel Chew, who were doing Red Cross work, have also returned. Major John R. Valentine expects to be mustered out the end of this month, and he and Mrs. Valentine are going South for a few weeks. Mrs. Channing Daniel, who will be remembered as Katherine Verner, of Wayne, has had a cable from her husband, Lieutenant Daniel, stating that he is on the way home. Lieutenant W. Kemble Yarrow, of Strafford, who has been in the service for twenty-two months, is expected to arrive any day, and Major Anthony Geyelin arrived at his home in Bryn Mewr this week.

TT MUST be hard for the kiddles to go back to school after such a good time in the holidays, for with the armistice every one seemed to feel as if they could begin again to entertain, and it being holiday time for the children, they promptly did. Luncheons and theatre parties, dinners and dances one after another, until I should think study would be a hard thing to take up again.

My, but some of those girls around fifteen and sixteen are pretty! I saw Rosemary Howe for the first time since she has been wearing evening frocks the other night at a dance, and attractive? My dears, I should say so! She has the loveliest curly hair and such a pretty little

She had on a frock of pale blue tulle trimmed with silver bands and tiny pink rosebuds, and she danced beautifully. That young lady is sure to be some belle when she comes out! She is the daughter of Mr. Arthur Howe, and her mother, who died some years ago, was Miss May Denckla, a sister of Herman Denckla, so Rosemary is a cousin of Mary Denckla Packard and Pauline Denckla. She has gone back to boarding school since the holidays; but never mind, boys, she'll be back for the Easter parties, and I don't blame you for wanting to dance with her. She is so sweet and pretty and has such a lovely mar.ner.

As I heard one mother say, "Rosemary is such a little lady."

Speaking of future belies, did you know that there will be some real comings-out next year? Yes, indeed, and there certainly will be a handful of pretty girls. There's Katherine Coxe and Naney Dunning and Polly Thayer and Hannah Elliott! And there'll be more than ever before, for those who were old enough to come out this year and did not on account of the war will still be young enough to be presented, and so there'll be a sort of louble effect next season. And there'll be a number who will have big parties given for them. So it's going to be some winter,

T WAS sorry to hear that Doctor Drinker, who is president of Lehigh University, was rather badly injured by a fall on the ice on Friday. He was taken to St. Luke's Hospital in Bethlehem. Doctor Drinker is the father of Ernesta Drinker, who married Willie Bullitt, and of Jimmie Drinker, whose wife was Mary Frances Fisher. His eldest son is Henry S. Drinker, Jr. He married Sophie Hutchinson. Doctor Drinker is such a courteous gentleman. I hope his accident is not very serious.

You know there are dances every year up at St. George's School, in Newport, and girls from here always go up to them -and incidentally have the time of their young lives. A lot of Philadelphia boys to there to school, and of course they always have to have girls from their "home town." Peggy Thayer went up one time last winter, do you remember, and had a wonderful time. Well, this year they are Jessie Da Costa, Jane Hepburn, Elizabet Jeanes, Edith Hutchinson and maybe Sarah Duane. Sarah's mother, Mrs. Russell Duane, was going with them as chaperone, but she's rather undecided now, so they aren't quite sure who's going to chaperone them. But they know they are going to have one, and they also feel perfectly convinced that a marvelous oun time is waiting for them. The dance on Friday, the 24th, the same night as irs. Wurts's next class.

Grateful for Article on the Negro

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir-I wish to express my appreciation of the article in the Evenino Punic Ledoge of Tuesday, the 7th, in regard to the negroes. Enough publicity has not been given to the negro problem to enable the public to arrive at a sane public opinion. You can do a real service by publishing suc articles. J. P. LICHTENBERGER. U. of P. More About a League of Nations

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger. Sir-Europe is now in such a state of flux that we need not expect any immediate or early solidification of the political elements of which she is composed. The mission of the President is to help Europe to get rid of the old balance of power system and surstitute a league of nations, which shall evermore enforce peace upon the earth

As we were disappointed that the war was so long-drawn-out, so we should be prepared for an extended wait for the full accomplish-ment of the President's high purpose. It has taken our Congress the biggest part of a year to pass the revenue bill now on the stocks, so when the Peace Congress assem-bles and gets to work it is likely to make a slow and interrupted progress. Would it be a wrong guess that a league of nations will not be formed at the first session of the conference, but a temporary concert of the lead-ing powers will be entered into, and the business carried over for a recond and maybe

For one thing, it will take a full year for people of Europe to be fed up, and until they have got enough to eat they will not be in temper to be easily satisfied with any arrangement made for their welfare.

It will take two years, and may take onger, for Bolshevism to run its course. The President in Italy said-that the world will hereafter be made up, not of great nations, but small ones; it may be so, but will the world be gainer thereby? A writer in the Atlantic Monthly avers that "Europe will be fortunate if it escapes a long series of petty wars rising out of the conflicting historical, ethnographic, economic, religious and political claims of these new nationali-ties." Of course, the President would not have Uncle Sam's domains cut up into small nations; ob, no.

As to the colored races of Asia and Africa what will be done about them to settle their aspirations for self-determination of their fu-ture destines? While settling the affairs of Europe and securing for the people a future of liberty, justice and peace the dark and yellow-skinned people of other continents must not be left out of the reckoning.

And what of the negro in this country?

Is he to enjoy the same liberty that the white man enjoys, or is he to be left to the discomforts and humiliation of the Jim Crow car, to the mercy of lynching mobs of the South, to the exclusion from trades and public louses of the North?

Some time ago, before the armistice was entered into, I gave to your paper my views of the kind of settlement that appeared to me to be proper. Nearly everything I recommended proved to be in accord with what was decided upon afterward by Foch and his advisers, but a few things, however, were overlooked. First, the sinking of the U-hoats, which I recommended; second, the destruction of the Krupp cannon factory third, the march of an army into Berlin. There seems to be no immediate disposition to do any of these things, although it does look now as if the armies of the Allies will have to police Berlin and settle the troubles there and hold the hungry Russian hordes from trampling over everything in their march for full stomachs.

The Peace Conference will not fulfill its mission until the hulls of the under outlaws find their proper place at the bottom of the ocean. The future peace of the world will not be secure unless those pirates are ruled out by a league of nations, and the bombing of cities prohibited from airplancs. Any nation committing such infernal out-rages should be declared outcast from the community of civilized peoples. Nor she

Of the vassals of Prussia, those in the north, stolen from Denmark, and in the cast, of what was once Austria-Hungary, should be liberated. Germany, whether sne ends up a monarchy or becomes a republic, should never be admitted to the League of Nations until Wurtemberg, Baden and Saxony are set free from the bondage of the Prussian barbarlans.

"Such times! Such times!" says E. S. M. in Life. "Bewildering to the anxious, full of menace to the timid, but freighted with splendid promise to the eye of faith!"

As to Teachers' Salaries To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger:

Sir-I wish to congratulate you for the way in which you presented Superintendent A. S. Martin's article in regard to the inefficiency of the teachers and the poor salary paid them. You are especially to be com-mended when one considers that this cam-paign for a 25 per cent incr ase is strong y urged in the city of Philadelphia, the home of your paper. I have been opposed to this vicious piece of legislation. I fully realize that the teachers of this S'ate, especially in the smaller districts and the rural schools, are very poorly paid for the great service they are rendering to this country. Surely next to saving souls (indirectly and directly, how many souls have been saved just because the influence of some influential teacher was exerted upon the boy or girl just at the right time, for good), the work of training the minds and bodies of the future citizens of the State is the most important work that can be done in the State.

It is far better to spend the money rais doy taxing the resources of the State for education, training the children to be good, honest, law-abiding citizens, than it is to spend it to reform some one who has gone astray, and that is what we do when we build jails and penitentiaries and confine people in them. I am convinced that the more money spent upon education, the less it will be necessary to spend upon penal institutions and other reformatorics. I am heart'ly in favor of an ncrease in teachers' salaries, but feel as Mr Martin does, that the matter should be taken care of in the local school districts. I think that I would suggest even higher salaries than he does. I would pay the teachers upon twelve months basis, that I would strongly urge and induc by offering a bonus, the securing of university credits by teachers during their summer vacation. Very sinc rely, PAUL Y. ECKERT.

London, Jan. 13.—Sir Charles Wyndham, the actor, died in London yesterday morning.

Sir Charles Wyndham, through his visits to America, covering a period of fifty years was almost as well known to the theatre goers in this country as he was in his native

Born in Liverpool in 1841, Charles Wynd-ham was the son of a prominent physician. His parents intended him for the church, and there was great consternation in the family when he displayed his predilections for the life of an actor. To appease his father he agreed to study medicine, and about coincident with the time of receiving his degree cident with the time of receiving his degree he married Emma Silberaad, the grand-daughter of a German baron. In 1862 he made his first professional ap-pearance at the old Royalty Theatre when the company included Ellen Terry, W. R. Kendal and David James, He found the Civil War in America of absorbing interest and postponed his the-atrical ventures in favor of service as an army surgeon. In this capacity he was present at the engagements of Chancellorsville, Fredericksburg and Gettysburg, beside serving all through the Red River campaign under General Banks. On quitting the army he returned to the stage and at the Olympic Theatre, October 8. 1863, he played in "Brother and Sister." Two years later he was back in England, and soon afterward appeared with Henry Irving and Ellen Terry in numerous plays.

When he reappeared in New York at Wai-lack's Theatre in 1869 he readily established a reputation as a light comedian and organized a touring company of his own which covered all the cities in the United States. Sir Charles was a favorite in fashionable society off as well as on the stage. The late King Edward bestowed knighthood upon him at the time of the coronation in 1902. On March 21, 1916, Sir Charles married Miss Mary Moore, who for thirty years had been the leading lady in his company.

HELPED SUPPLY FOOD TO FRENCH PRISONERS

Was Widely Known in U. S. and Bordeaux Girl Sent Boxes Every Two Weeks to Fifteen Poilus

> Packing boxes for the French prisoners n Germany was the special form of war work done by Miss Suzanne Dubreuith, of Bordeaux, who came to Philadelphia, Saturday, with her brother-in-law, M. Emanuel Chantand, lecturer for the McAll Mission.

> Miss Dubreuilh is a charming young French girl, with gentle manner and keen, intelligent eyes.

For four years she devoted herself to rar work in France, going every morning to the hospitals as a nurses aid, and doing the varied tasks which have fallen to the French women during the war,

Ten months ago, she came to America, having an exchange scholarship at the University of Cincinnati, Ohlo. She knew little English then, but she has quickly picked it up, so that she now speaks easily, although with a manner of twisting her words about a bit, which is rather charming as she does it. Her father is a professor in the University of Bordeaux.

The war work which she was most interested in was packing boxes for the French prisoners, who were but scantily fed and clothed by their German captors. She sent soxes every two weeks to fifteen soldiers, many of whom said afterwards that the feared they might have starved had it not been for the aid given them by the French women. The personal touch of receiving gifts also meant much to them in the long, dreary months of their imprisonment.

Oh. Lady!

Don't take down your service flags yet, and don't keep them up until they gradually disappear, weather beaten tattered and un-noticed. DISPLAY SERVICE FLAGS

TILL FIXED DATE, URGED

War Camp Community Board

Suggests Demobilization on

Washington's Birthday

Instead of taking down the flags one by one as fast as the boys are mustered out or the stars have turned to gold, the War Camp Community Service urges that their proud possessors should keep them exhibited until a fixed date when they can be demobi-lized at a public ceremony.

The service flag has been the one central emblem that has represented the sons, the brothers, the fathers and the swee hearts of those who have remained behind. It has appeared everywhere throughout the country as a great sign of reverence, an emblem of pride and hope. Great mansions and isolated little huts have displayed it alike, and far has waved to flag from the humblest milk wagon or peddler's cart to the most gorgeous limousines.

War Cann Community Service suggests

War Camp Community Service suggests the period in which Washington's Birthday falls as a fitting occasion for the first cere-mony of the "demobilization of the service flag." F bruary 22 is a national holiday, and on Friday the 21st the schools with co-holding Washington's birthday programs. On this same day, factories, department stores, office buildings, banks, industrial institu-tions and fraternal orders might well also have the exercises of the "demobilization of the service flag," it is pointed out. On Sunday, the 23d, the churches should have their demobilizations, it is contended. The service does not put this forth as a varue suggestion, but has planned a well-defined program for these three days. Serv-ice bars should be pinned (and later sewed) across the stars which represent the boys who have come home. For the flacs with stars which have turned to gold a specially designed permanent service flag to be known designed permanent service flag, to be known as "Gold Glory" should be substituted, and these should be kept on public exhibition as long as the mind of man retains the menaory of this most just of wars. The chief feature of the celebrations at which these ceremonies take place should be community singing. The following program could be arranged it is said, if the Mayors of cities and Gov-ernors of States and President Wilson himself, back from planning the great peace, would include in their Washington's Birthday proclamations a plea for its fulfillment:

The singing of "America;" ten minutes of community singing; ten-minute address by a civilian; ten-minute response by a service man; solo; ten more minutes of community singing; of filler; tribute to singing; fifteen seconds of silent tribute to the men who have failen; demobilization of the service flag stars for those men who

the service flag stars for those men who have been mustered out; prayer; community singing, ending with "Home, Sweet Home," and the "Star Spangled Banner."
Only those stars should be demobilized which represent either death or discharge from the service. In the former case "Gold Glories" should be hung in a place for permanent exhibition. These demobilization ceremonies should be repeated several times devices the wear. during the year. Until our army is de-mobilized, it is said, there should be at intervals of several months "service flag demobilization" at block parties, churches, office buildings, department stores, fraternal orders, high schools, colleges, small com-munities and at every place where there is a service flag.

Governor-Elect Sproul Asked to Address Meeting at the Discussion of problems connected with the automobile industry will be a part of the program for a meeting Wednesday evening t the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel of the Motorruck Owners' Association of this city.

It is expected nearly 5000 autotruck owners will be present. The following men have been asked to speak: William G. Sproul, Governor-elect; Lewis S. Sadler, State Highway Commissioner-elect; John Irwin Bright, chairman Philadelphia Chapter of the Institute of Architects and Harvid S. tute of Architects and Harold S. Sherts, executive secretary of the same association, whose subject will be "The Aims and Objects of a Motortruck Owners' Association. Such problems as insurance, traffic regulations, the chauffeur question, operating cost systems and highway improvement will be discussed.

The motto of the association is "Keep the Wheels Turning and Earning," and the discussion at this meeting will attempt to show how this is possible.

ROOSEVELT TRIBUTES HERE

Dead Former President Lauded at Memorial Services in City

Former President Roosevelt was lauded sermons at special memorial services yesterday in various Protestant churches. A Roosevelt memorial service was conducted in St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Tenth street below Market, by the Rev. Dr. Carl E. Grammer, president of the Interchurch Federation, who spoke of Mr. Roosevelt as an entirely new type of American velt as an entirely new type of American life.

"We have had many inspiring examples of men born in poverty and reared amid privations who have climbed to the first seats of power and influence," he said, "but Theodore Roosevelt was our first example of a man born in the purple who became a supreme man of the people. His splendid social position, wealth, culture and hereditary advantages never separated him from his fellow men. These distinctions were all dissolved in the warm currents of his glowing humanity. He was first of all and above everything else a man, and every human being, especially every American, was to him interesting and closely related. He was a real hero, a modern knight-errant, a paladin of romance in politics. No one can measure yet the full extent of his influence."
